(a) 7.Bc4 Nb6! 8.Bb6 Bd7 9.ed e6 leads to an equal game according to Ken Smith.
(b) Better is 8. ... Ndb4! 9.a3 Qd1+ 10.Kd1 Na6 11.b4 Nc7 The text gives white a slightly better middlegame, but it's complicated!
(c)With 11.Nd4, white has the option of playing f4 to guard the e pawn. White's space end development are worth a bit more than the weak pawn structure. Black's Q-side pawns are especially vulnerable. I planned a careful defense to secure the draq needed for victory.
(d)White is feeling the weakness of his central pawns and may indeed lose one if he is not careful. Necessary is 20.Bd5 Rd5 21Rd5 Rcd8 22.Rdb1 with slightly better play for Black.

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK
(by David Rosley)

--- Ok, Ok, The last Newsletter was almost two months late. I was mostly at fault for this. I apologize.

--- Now to Business. In Carrington on July 28 and 29 is Annual North Dakota State Team Championships. Last year we had only 4 teams, this year were hoping for a least 8 teams. Come on!!

--- A governing Board meeting is planned for Carrington.

--- The NDCA Newsletter is in need of material for its pages. I'm sure anyone out there can write a good article, anotate a game, or has an opinion they would like to voice. I myself would like to see the return of Brent Askvig's article "DID YOU KNOW" to the pages of the NDCA Newsletter. There are only a few people contributing to the Newsletter now, without which, there would be no Newsletter. So Come on Nodaks!

--- From the looks of the 1600 and over ratings list ND seems to be CLASS B HEAVY!.

--- I was wondering is North Dakota big enough to hold a Class Tournament. If anybody thinks this is a good idea or not, Please attend the meeting at Carrington, or write your regional representative.

--- Are you all having a good summer?

(a)Closing the center gives Black a freer reign on the K-side.

(b)With the plan that following 18.Be3 is better.

(c)This gives Black a protected passed pawn and a good K-side attack. If White allows 19. ... f4 20.g4 then sacrifices on g4 are possible, but this is still the lesser of two evils.

(d)Squashing any reasonable chance for a g4 break, while threatening to assault g3.

(e)The White King must run! The attack is too strong.

(f)This is a terrible move but shouldn't ruin Black's game

(g)If only the Black Bishop were on c8!

(h)I thought that Steve was too demoralized from blowing a beatiful game. After 34. ... Nc5 35.Re3 Bg6 36.Rd1 White should win after some very careful play. Steve said that he had other reasons to resign. I didn't ask him why.

(a) This is too early to relieve the central tension, White's central and K-side central outweighs Black's Q-side possibilites.
(b) The only move to hold on. Black plans f6, Bf7 and e5. Best now is 18.Ne4 Qe7 19.Nc5 b5 20.Re1 with good prospects. White decides to go for an unsound attack.
(c) Black could fall for 21. ... Kh8 22.Ng6+ hg6? 23.Rh5+!

(a) Aiming for d4 and Q-side expansion or central play.
(b) With the idea of exchanging Bishops on g5 to relieve Black's cramped position.
(c) This hasty move in mild time pressure relinquishes White's slighty better grip on the f-file. Black should now play 22. ... Rf1+ 23.Kf1 Rf8+ with an easier game.
(d) After 26. ... h6 the White squares look awful, but Black should hold.
(e) 29.Qh3! wins. Time pressure stikes again.
